THE BOER INVASION OF THE ZULU KINGDOM: 1837-1840

'John Laband's book is a greater reward for young minds grown cynical about the past.'

– Archie Henderson,
Business Day

The battle of Blood River on 16 December 1838 has long been regarded as a critical moment in the history of South Africa.

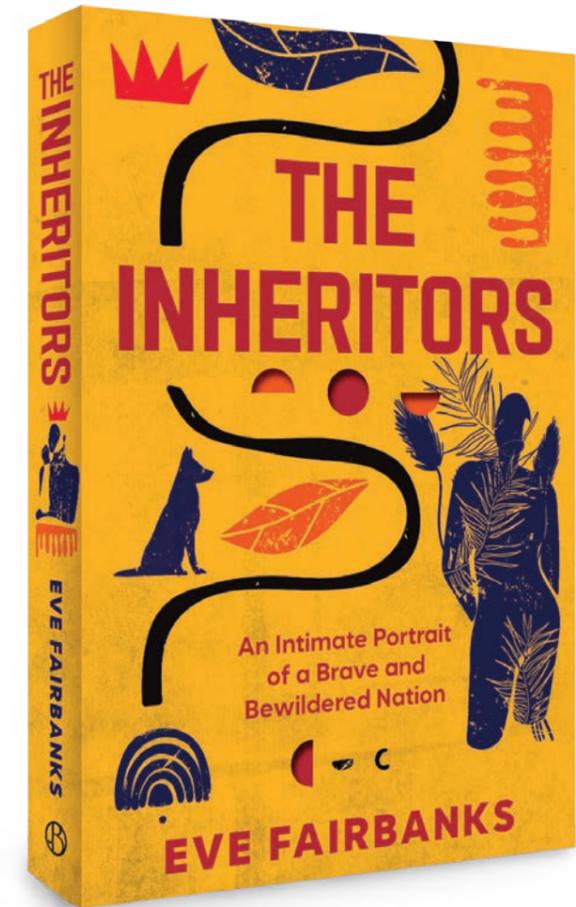

Many Afrikaners long acclaimed their triumph as the God-given justification for their subsequent dominion over Africans. By contrast, Africans celebrate the war with pride for its significance in their valiant struggle against colonial aggression.

In this telling of the Boer invasion, Laband deals even-handedly with the warring sides in the conflict. Crucially, he presents the less familiar Zulu perspective and explains the decisions taken by the Zulu leaders as they grappled with the existential threat of the Boer invasion.

The protagonists are placed in the context of the early nineteenth century that saw the displacement of populations and migrations, the emergence of new kingdoms such as that of the amaZulu, and the inexorable and violent advance of colonial settlement and rule.

DR JOHN LABAND is a retired historian and an expert in Zulu history. He has authored, co-authored or edited over twenty books on warfare and military culture in Africa.

THE INHERITORS

An Intimate Portrait of a Brave and Bewildered Nation

'Easily the most compelling new nonfiction book I've read in years.'

– Suketu Mehta, author

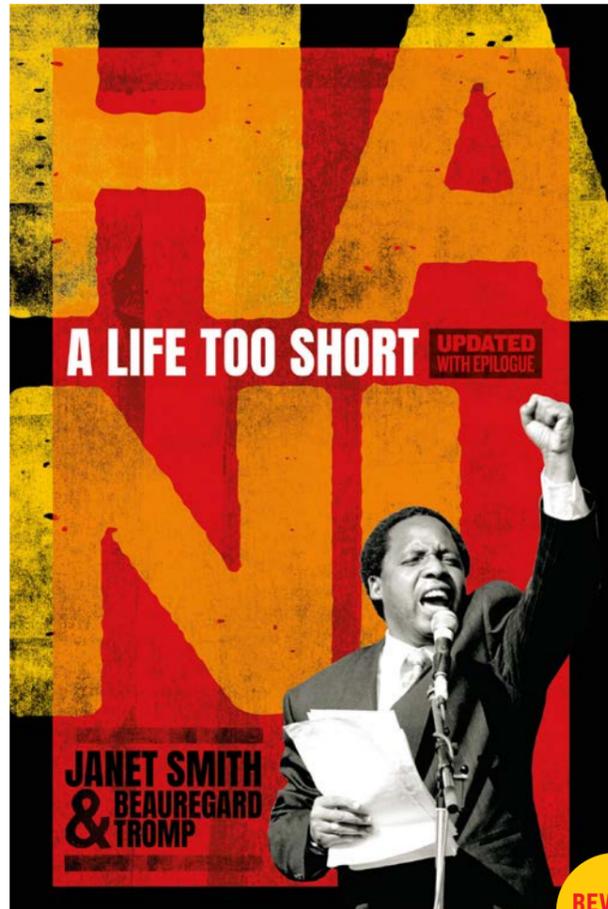

South Africans face a reckoning – mourn a miracle nation that never came into being, fight on to give it birth, or make something else out of 1994's ashes? In The Inheritors, award-winning writer Eve Fairbanks tells the stories of ordinary people facing this stupendous question. These are kinds of lives rarely examined in such depth: political activist Dipuo, her born-free daughter Malaika, and Christo, one of the last Afrikaner men drafted to fight for the apartheid regime.

All three have to remake their own lives while facing the questions: what do I owe to my forebears and what does history owe to me? They tell of the unresolved rage, generational guilt, and enduring hope that many South Africans struggle to speak aloud to themselves in private, let alone share.

Observing subtle truths about power and inheritance, Fairbanks explores questions that preoccupy so many South Africans today: how can one let go of one's past? How should historical debts be paid? And how can a person live an honourable life in a society that – for better or worse – they no longer recognise?

EVE FAIRBANKS is a published political writer. The Inheritors is her first book.

REVISED EDITION

HANI

A Life too Short

Chris Hani's assassination in 1993 gave rise to one of South Africa's greatest political questions: if he had survived, what impact would he have had on the ANC government?

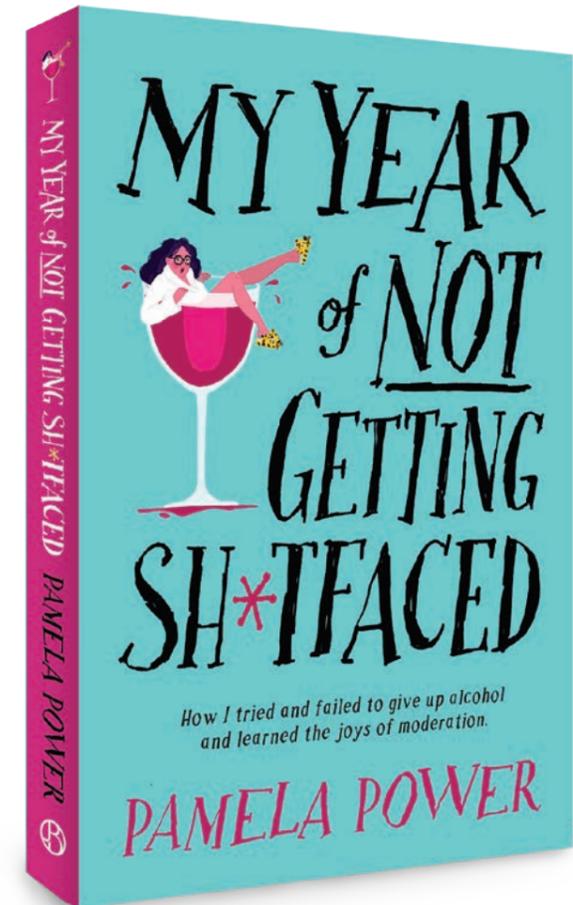

On the 30th anniversary of his murder by right-wing fanatics, this updated version of the best-selling Hani: A Life Too Short re-evaluates his legacy and traces his life from his childhood in rural Transkei to the crisis in the ANC camps in Angola in the 1980s and the heady dawn of South Africa's freedom.

Drawing on interviews and the recollections of those who knew him, this vividly written book provides a detailed account of the life of a hero of South Africa's liberation, a communist party leader and Umkhonto we Sizwe chief of staff who was both an intellectual and a fighter.

JANET SMITH is a former newspaper editor and author of Patrice Motsepe, released in 2022.

MY YEAR OF NOT GETTING SH*T FACED

How I Tried and Failed to Give Up Alcohol and Learned the Joys of Moderation

After an exceptionally wild Mother's Day where she danced like there was no tomorrow, picked a fight with a stranger and collided with the floor, Pamela Power is forced to take a hard look at her drinking habit.

In this honest yet humorous account of her year of not getting sh*tfaced, Pamela realises just how much of a crutch alcohol has been for her. There is always a bottle of wine or prosecco around to her to help her manage the many demands of life as a freelancer and a parent.

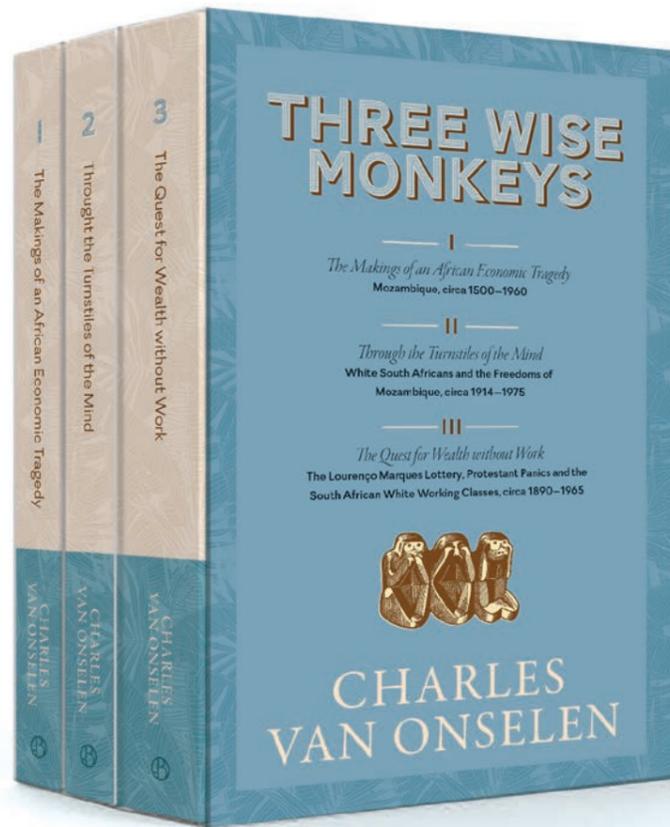

Through her, we experience all the frustration, irritation and surprising benefits of going dry. In dealing with her dependence on alcohol, Pamela also confronts her troubled relationship with her parents.

While many other sober curious books portray sobriety as the only answer, Pam finds a sweet spot – moderation.

PAMELA POWER is a television scriptwriter and script editor. She is also the author and co-author of several works of fiction, including Ms Conception.

THREE WISE MONKEYS BOXSET

Three Wise Monkeys explores the contradictions and working misunderstandings that arise when an emerging Anglophone, Protestant, industrial and urbanising state – South Africa – develops side by side with Mozambique – a Lusophone, Catholic, commercial, rural colony.

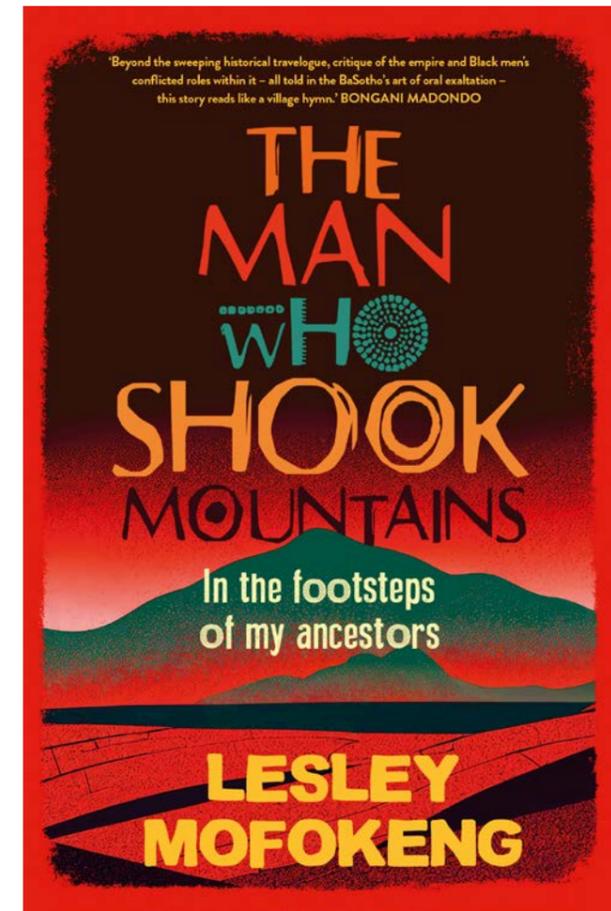

In three volumes, Van Onselen examines South Africa and Portugal's chronically weak east coast colony relations, as expressed through the migrant labour system, the tourist trade, the rise and fall of LM Radio and the extraordinary tale of the Lourenço Marques Lottery.

These areas constituted zones of cross-cultural, transnational interaction that both states were reluctant to acknowledge formally, choosing instead to 'see no evil, speak no evil and hear no evil' for much of the 20th century. Three Wise Monkeys presents a new way of viewing the entangled economic, political and social dynamics that informed the rise of 20th-century South Africa, often at the expense of neighbouring Mozambique.

CHARLES VAN ONSELEN is an historian and an award-winning author of several books, including The Seed is Mine that won the Alan Paton Award in 1995.

THE MAN WHO SHOOK MOUNTAINS

In the Footsteps of my Ancestors

'Beyond the sweeping historical travelogue, critique of the empire and Black men's conflicted roles within it – all told in the BaSotho's art of oral exaltation – this story reads like a village hymn.'

– Bongani Madondo, writer and journalist

Journalist Lesley Mofokeng investigates the life of his remarkable grandfather, Mongangane Wilfred Mofokeng, a prominent NG Kerk evangelist, who built a community out of the dust of the far North West.

The journey takes Mofokeng from Joburg's Marabi-soaked townships of the 1930s to his childhood home of Gelukspan near Lichtenburg and then to the rural Free State and the mountain kingdom of Lesotho, where he traces the inspirational footsteps of his ancestors.

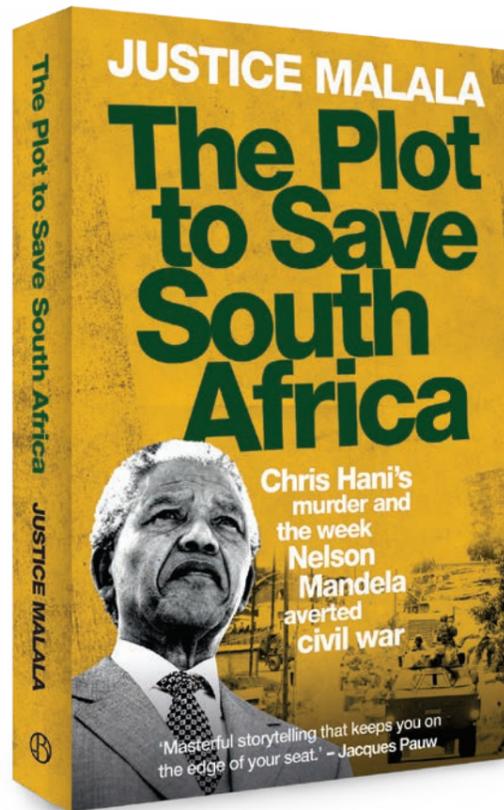

In the process, he uncovers a long-lost chapter of South African history and the church of the apartheid regime.

LESLEY MOFOKENG has worked for the Sunday Times, City Press and Sowetan. He is the author of biographies of Somizi and Khanyi Mbau.

THE PLOT TO SAVE SOUTH AFRICA

Chris Hani's murder and the week Nelson Mandela averted civil war

Today it seems as if the defeat of apartheid was inevitable, but Chris Hani's assassination on the Easter Weekend of 1993 nearly tipped the country into all-out war. Now, bestselling Justice Malala tells the story of the week that followed the ANC firebrand's murder by Janusz Waluś in riveting, cinematic fashion.

In this meticulously researched new book, the reader is taken into the thought processes and consequential actions of the key players – from Nelson Mandela, FW de Klerk, the police investigating the murder, dangerous right-wingers like Clive Derby-Lewis, and leaders such as Cyril Ramaphosa, Bantu Holomisa and Tokyo Sexwale. On the 30th anniversary of Hani's death, this book tells us just how close South Africa came to civil war and how Mandela and De Klerk – despite provocation and despite their own fears, failures and doubts – chose the path of peace.

‘The murder of Chris Hani was the touch and go moment. This was the darkest night facing our country, but it was also the brightest moment.’ – Mac Maharaj, retired politician

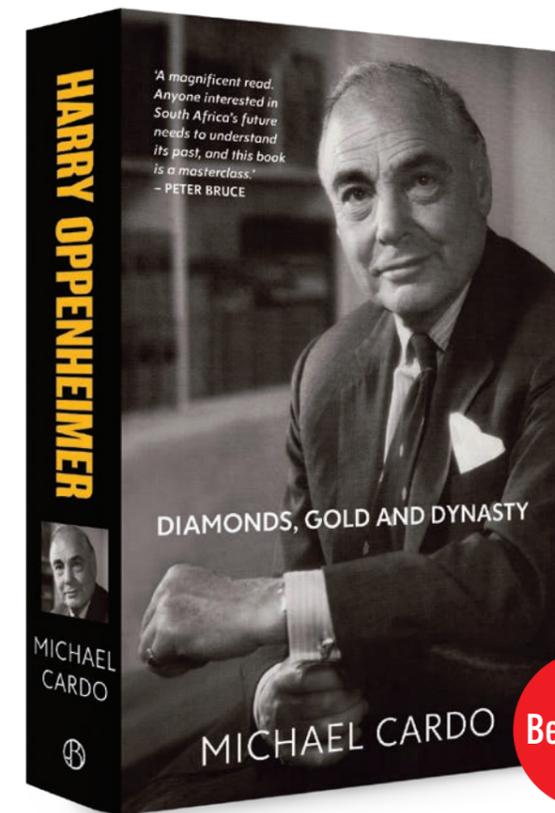

JUSTICE MALALA is one of South Africa's most well-known political analysts and the author of the bestselling We Have Now Begun Our Descent.

HARRY OPPENHEIMER

Diamonds, Gold and Dynasty

‘This book will surely be the most readable, best informed, most complete account of Harry Oppenheimer's life there is ever likely to be.’ – Bill Nasson, author and historian

Harry Oppenheimer, the international gold-and-diamond magnate, presided over the corporate dynasty of Anglo American and De Beers for more than 25 years. Yet, two decades after his death, the Oppenheimer empire is no more.

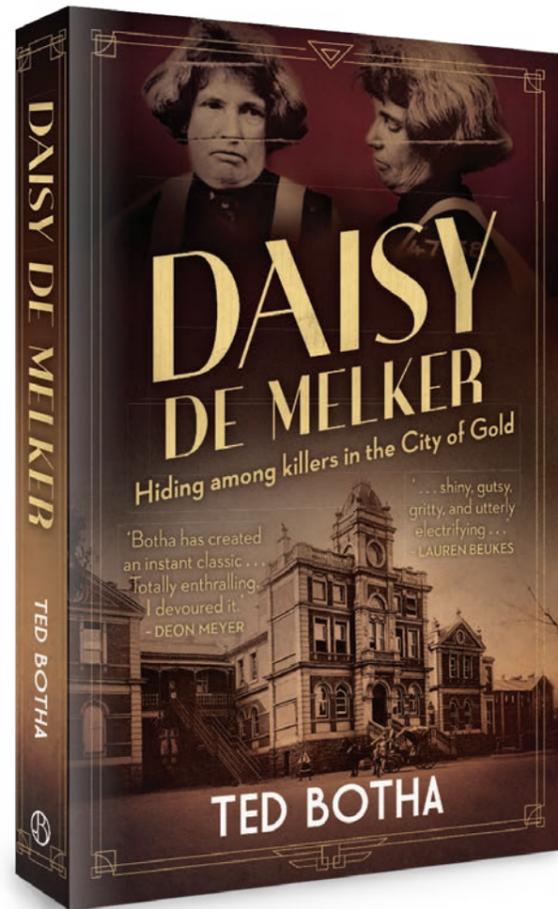

As the political opposition's key financial backer, the founder (along with Anton Rupert) of the Urban Foundation after the Soweto uprising in 1976, and a ubiquitous philanthropist, Oppenheimer helped propel the process of reform. Nevertheless, in some quarters he is demonised as the archetype of 'white monopoly capital' and scapegoated, along with Nelson Mandela, for the country's disappointing democratic dividends.

In the first, full-scale biography of Oppenheimer, based on unrestricted access to his subject's private papers and extensive interviews with family members and close associates, Michael Cardo eschews both the corporate hype and the political propaganda to produce a vivid, fully-rounded portrait. He brings to life the places, people, events and relationships that shaped Harry Oppenheimer's long and rich career at the intersection of business and politics.

Cardo also tackles thorny questions of legacy and Oppenheimer's complicity with the oppressive racial order of the past.

MICHAEL CARDO is a Member of Parliament and an author. He holds a PhD in History from the University of Cambridge.

DAISY DE MELKER

Hiding among killers in the City of Gold

When Daisy de Melker stood trial in 1932, accused of poisoning her son and two husbands, the public couldn't get enough of her. Crowds gathered outside court baying for blood, and she waved to them like a celebrity.

Against the backdrop of Johannesburg, a booming metropolis of opulence and chaos nicknamed the 'City of Gold' and the 'University of Crime', she had quietly gone about her sinister business while around her sensational crimes grabbed the headlines.

These stories are told in the style of a thriller and with riveting detail.

Botha weaves together a fantastic cast of killers and con men, detectives and lawmen, journalists and authors – even Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and Herman Charles Bosman – to depict a grand and desperate city. For years Daisy hid in the shadows but when someone finally spoke up about the suspicious deaths around her, it led to a trial like nothing Johannesburg had ever seen and spread her name across the world.

WINNIE & NELSON

Portrait of a Marriage

Nelson Mandela has been written about by many biographers and historians. But his marriage to Winnie Madikizela-Mandela remains largely untold.

During his imprisonment, Nelson grew ever more in love with an idealised version of his wife, courting her in his letters as if they were young lovers. But Winnie, every bit his political equal, found herself increasingly estranged from her jailed husband's politics. Behind his back, she was trying to orchestrate an armed seizure of power, a path he feared would lead to an endless civil war.

Steinberg tells the tale of this unique marriage, turning the course of South African history into a page-turning political biography. Winnie and Nelson is a modern epic in which trauma doesn't affect just the couple, but an entire nation – a Shakespearean drama in which bonds of love and commitment mingle with timeless questions of revolution.

Steinberg tells this story with power and tender emotional insight, revealing how far these forever entwined leaders would go for each other, and also where they drew the line. For in the end both knew theirs was not simply a marriage, but a struggle to define anti-apartheid itself.

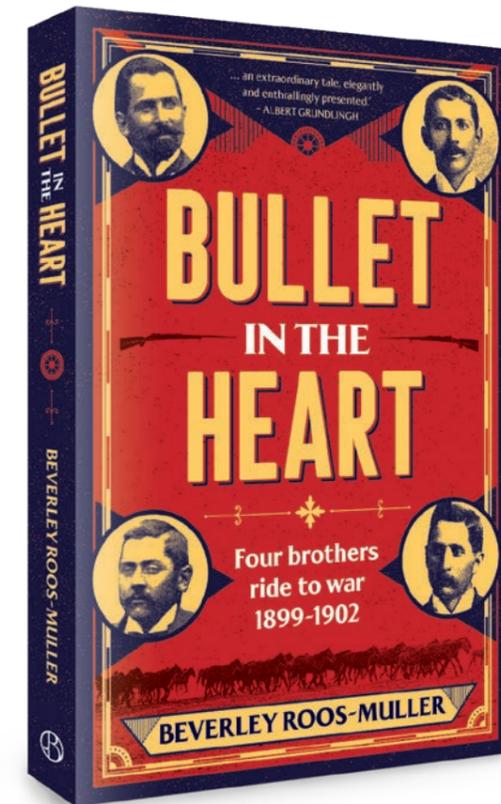

'Only Steinberg could have written a book in which Winnie and Nelson can appear both larger-than-life and all too human. What a book! What an achievement!' – Jacob Dlamini, historian and author

JONNY STEINBERG is the author of numerous books about everyday life in the wake of South Africa's transition to democracy. He is a two-time winner of the Sunday Times Alan Paton Award.

BULLET IN THE HEART

Four Brothers Ride to War 1899-1902

'... an extraordinary tale, elegantly and enthrallingly presented.'
– Albert Grundlingh, author and historian

'... it is actually nine months this evening since I last saw the light in my own house, when I had to tear myself away from all that is dear to me. And today is also my little son's birthday. Oh, how I long for home.'

So wrote Michael Muller in 1901 as he gazed at the lights of Cape Town from a ship bound for Bermuda, after months of internment in a British POW camp in Simon's Town. The camps were full, so Boer prisoners were being sent to other parts of the empire. Michael's brothers, Chris and Pieter, were exiled to Ceylon, while Lool was held in the Green Point camp in Cape Town.

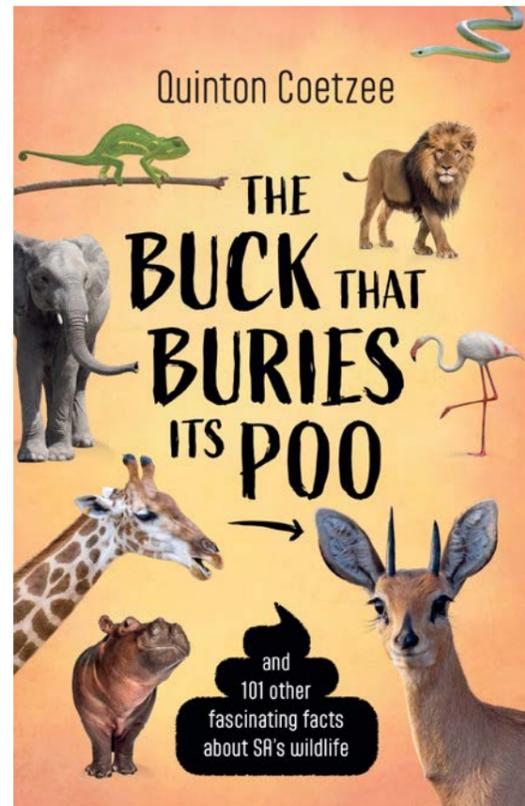

Remarkably, three of the brothers kept diaries – the only known instance of this happening in the Boer War. They recorded their intimate thoughts and turbulent emotions, and the diaries gave them agency.

When Beverley Roos-Muller first began to explore writing about the Boer experience of the war, she read the tiny war diary of Michael, grandfather of her husband, Ampie Muller. It led her to the discovery of the other diaries and many more documents. She also records the brothers' difficult return home and examines the consequences for South Africa of the bitterness this strife invoked.

This is a beautifully told account of the fellowship of four brothers in war, their capture and their eventual recovery.

BEVERLEY ROOS-MULLER is a historian, former journalist and activist.

THE BUCK THAT BURIES ITS POO

And 101 Other Fascinating Facts About SA's Wildlife

Is a zebra black with white stripes or white with black stripes? And why do flamingos stand on one leg and bats hang upside down? Did you know that a chameleon's tongue can shoot out at five times the acceleration of a fighter jet?

In The Buck That Buries Its Poo, naturalist Quinton Coetzee answers these and many other intriguing wildlife questions. He also dispels many myths and elucidates some of the legends that surround creatures we thought we knew all about in the South African bush. For example, bats do not get tangled in people's hair (because they are far too adept at flight) and elephants are not afraid of mice (but they do fear bees!).

Other tall tales you might hear around the campfire is that lions roll in animal dung, entrails or carcasses to disguise their scent and that rhinos have a predilection for stomping out fires. What is true, though, is that hyenas are more closely related to cats than to dogs.

This handy guide is based on Coetzee's own research and that of others, and his experience gleaned over decades living close to nature and wildlife. It seeks to unravel the mysteries of nature in Africa – from mammals and birds to arthropods and plants – with fascinating information and fun trivia. A book that will enlighten and entertain.

PS: Zebra are black with white stripes!

QUINTON COETZEE is a naturalist, bushcraft expert, entrepreneur and adventurer. He has a BSc degree from Rhodes University and has presented popular television wildlife programmes.

GIRLS OF LITTLE HOPE

Three girls went into the woods. Only two came back, covered in blood and with no memory of what happened.

Being fifteen is tough, tougher when you live in a boring-ass small town like Little Hope, California (population 8,302) in 1996.

Donna, Rae and Kat keep each other sane with the fervor of teen girl friendships, zine-making and some amateur sleuthing into the town's most enduring mysteries: a lost gold mine, and why little Ronnie Gaskins burned his parents alive a decade ago.

Their hunt will lead them to a hidden cave from which only Donna and Rae return alive. Neither of them can remember what happened. And Kat? Sweet, wannabe writer Kat who rebelled against her mom's beauty pageant dreams by getting fat? She's missing. Dead. Or terribly traumatized, out there in the woods, alone.

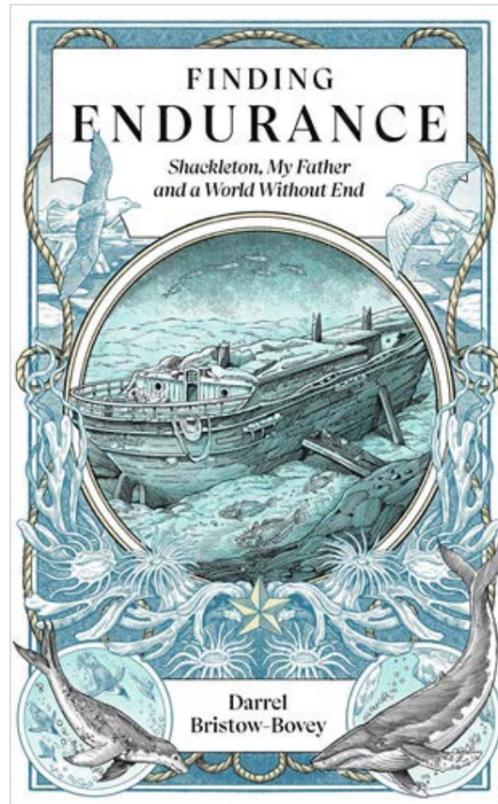

As the police circle and Kat's frantic mother Marybeth starts doing some investigating of her own, Rae and Donna will have to return to the cave where they discover a secret so shattering that no-one who encounters it will ever be the same.

ELON MUSK

Risking it All

'How did a bullied, introverted Pretoria schoolboy become the world's richest person and arguably humanity's greatest change agent? Vlismas's extensively researched biography does a great job of unwrapping Elon Musk's remarkable life story.' – Toby Shapshak

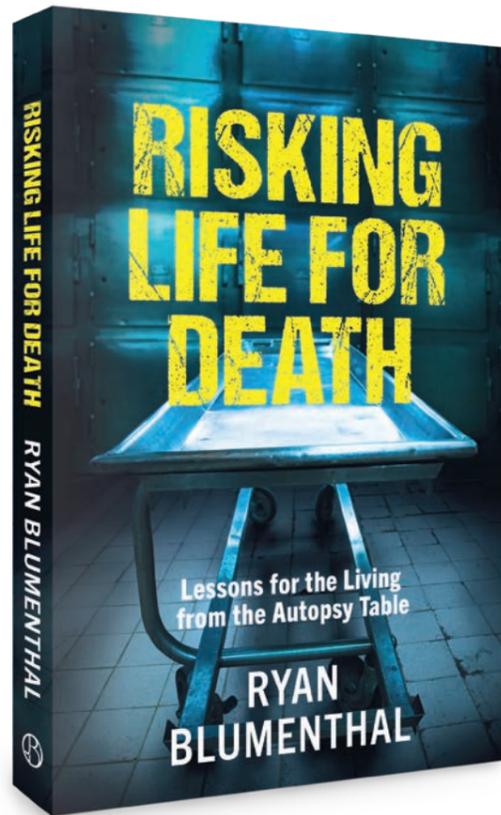

Often in the news for his audacious business exploits and controversial tweets, Musk is a polarising figure who inspires some and is loathed by others. Who is this boundary-pushing billionaire with grand plans of inhabiting Mars and turning Twitter into an everything app? What lies at the heart of his outsized ambition?

As an awkward Pretoria schoolboy who loved comics and science fiction, Musk's early years and singular family background were crucial in his formation. Journalist and author Michael Vlismas, who attended the same high school as Musk, knows well the environment that shaped him and offers new insights into Musk's development, including his troubled relationship with his father.

Now updated with an extensive interview with his father, Errol, this book traces Musk's remarkable life, from his South African childhood to his move to Canada at 17 and then to the US – where he built Tesla and SpaceX into two of the world's most famous companies. This is the story of a man who is utterly unafraid of risk.

RISKING LIFE FOR DEATH

Lessons for the Living from the Autopsy Table

Every contact leaves a trace: a single strand of hair or a tiny droplet of blood can be the silent witness at a crime scene.

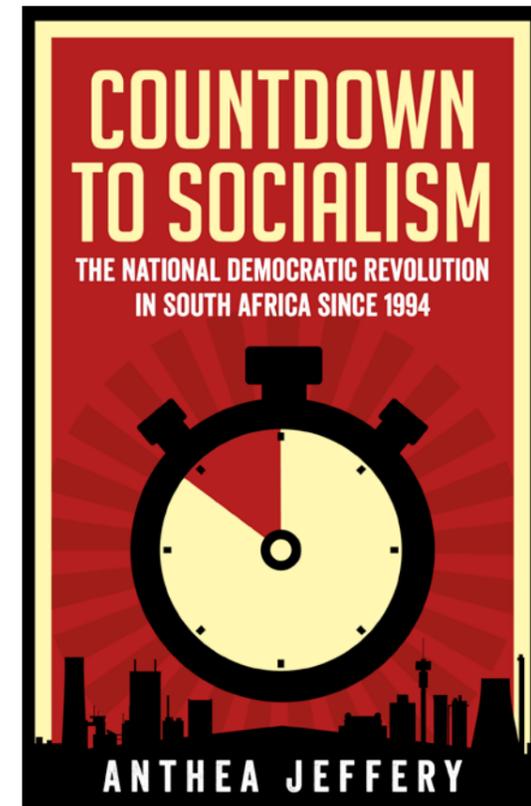

Locard's Exchange Principle underpins all forensic science and holds that the perpetrator of a crime will bring something to the crime scene and leave with something from it.

Forensic experts use this principle daily to catch murderers and assailants. In Risking Life for Death, South African forensic pathologist Ryan Blumenthal offers a master class in this singular forensic technique based on real-life case studies. With more than twenty years' experience in the field, Blumenthal explains how to look for clues and traces, and how what he does not find at autopsy is often more important than what he does find. In other words, the absence of evidence can sometimes be of greater value than the presence of evidence.

His account also highlights the dangers forensic pathologists are exposed to daily. As they try to unravel the puzzle of someone's death, forensic pathologists often face lifethreatening infections, toxic gases and the hazards associated with high-profile cases – in effect, risking their life to solve someone else's death.

RYAN BLUMENTHAL is a forensic pathologist and the author of Autopsy: Life in the Trenches with a Forensic Pathologist in Africa (2020).

COUNTDOWN TO SOCIALISM

The National Democratic Revolution in South Africa Since 1994

With growth stalling, joblessness at crisis levels, and governance unravelling, most South Africans cannot fathom why the ANC does not embark on meaningful reform. The answer lies in what is seldom raised: the ruling party's unwavering determination to take the country by incremental steps from capitalism to socialism.

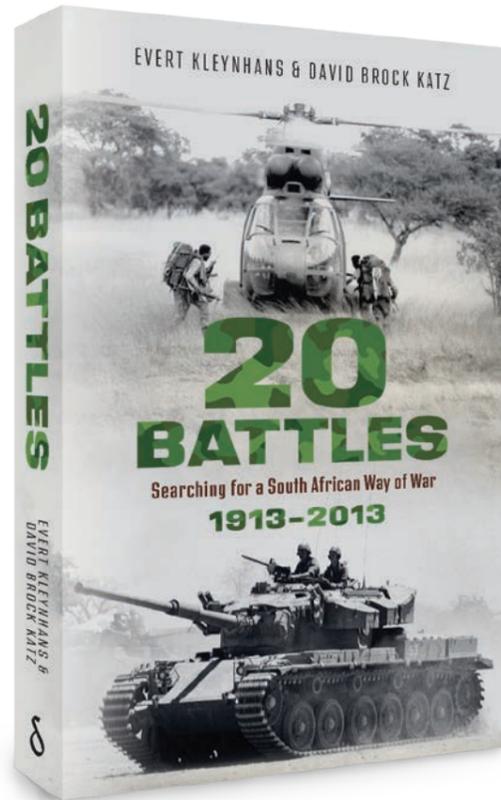

This transformation is being implemented via a Moscow-inspired 'national democratic revolution' (NDR) dating back many decades. Despite the Soviet Union's collapse in 1991, the ANC/SACP alliance still sees the NDR as offering the 'most direct route' to socialism in South Africa – hence as its bedrock strategy.

The NDR has been implemented in many different spheres since 1994. By way of example, NDR interventions have already made millions of people unemployable and the mining sector largely 'uninvestable'. They now aim at land expropriation without compensation (EWC) and the effective nationalisation of private healthcare and pensions.

The NDR is the key to understanding ANC rule over some 30 years – yet most South Africans have been kept in the dark on it. This book aims to fill that gap.

20 BATTLES

Searching for a South African Way of War 1913-2013

Favouring manoeuvre over attrition, and often punching above their weight, South African soldiers have become known for their tenacity, dash and ability to defy the odds. Their unique directive command style has also helped them to excel in defining battles and operations, from the campaign in German South West Africa in 1915 to the cross-border operations in Angola during the Border War.

In 20 Battles, military historians Kleynhans and Katz investigate the evolution of South Africa's armed forces over a century. They track the evolution of the doctrine and structure of the defence force, rediscovering historical continuity and the lessons learned in past battles and operations.

What is clear is that when South African soldiers have the freedom to operate according to their manoeuvre doctrine they can achieve stunning results. But when hemmed in by rigid doctrine and top-down command style the results can be tragic.

20 Battles combines both battlefield drama and crisp analysis and will provide much-needed perspective on the South Africa way of war.

'Rugby is een van my passies, een van my liefdes'. – Gcobani Bobo, oud-Springbok

ONKANT

'n Rugbyliefdesverhaal

'Rugby is one of my passions. One of my loves.' – Gcobani Bobo, former Springbok

Het jy al ooit gewonder hoe dit moet voel om vir die Springbokke gekies te word of hoe 50 000 ekstatische ondersteuners op die pawiljoen klink?

Met die Rugbywêreldbeker om die draai, het Hendrik Hancke die land deurkruis om met oud-Springbokke en ander rolspeleers, insluitend breiers en 'n skeidsregter, te gesels oor hul liefde vir rugby. Hulle deel oomblikke in die kleedkamer, persoonlike oorwinnings en voorheen ongepubliseerde stories oor wat van die veld af en op toer gebeur.

As jy Saterdagmiddae kliphard vir die televisie skree of op die sypaadjie sal slaap vir 'n kaartjie na 'n groot wedstryd, dan is dié boek vir jou!

Ever wondered what it feels like to be selected for the Springboks? Or what 50 000 ecstatic fans sound like?

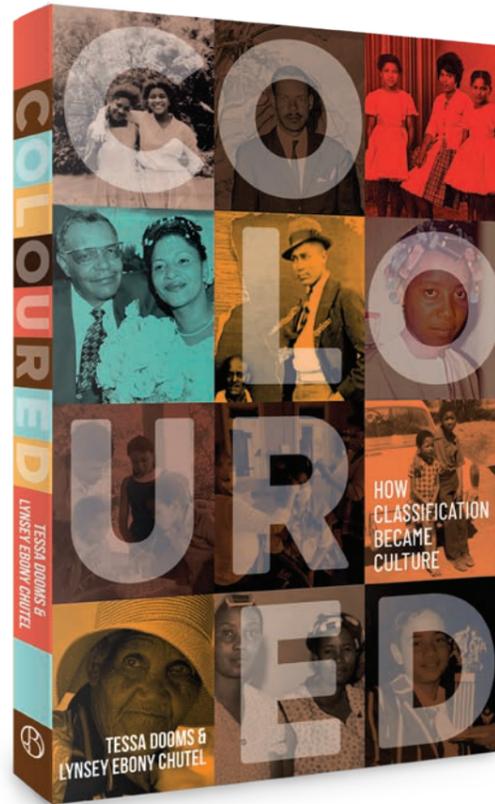

In the run-up to the 2023 Rugby World Cup, journalist Hendrik Hancke criss-crossed the country to speak to legendary Springboks and other role-players, including coaches and a referee, about their love of rugby. They share private dressing room moments, personal triumphs and previously unpublished stories about what happens off the field and on tour.

If you find yourself shouting at the TV screen on Saturday afternoons and would sleep on the pavement for tickets to a game, this book is for you.

HENDRIK HANCKE is 'n joernalis by die Sunday Times.

COLOURED

How Classification Became Culture

Coloured as an ethnicity and racial demographic is intertwined in the creation of today's South Africa. Yet often, Coloured communities are disdained as people with no clear heritage or culture. Coloured challenges this notion and presents a different angle to that narrative.

It delves into the history of Coloured people as descendants of indigenous Africans and a people whose identity was shaped by colonisation, slavery, and the racial political hierarchy it created.

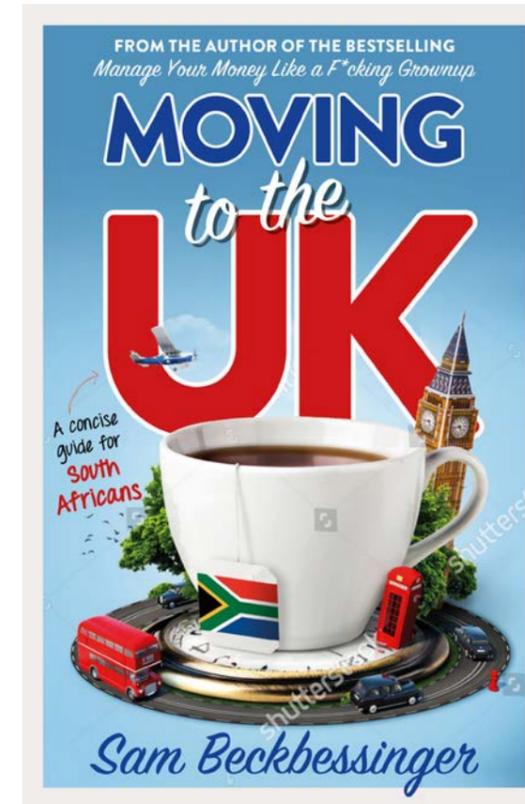

Although rooted in a difficult history, this book is also about the culture that Coloured communities have created for themselves through food, music, and shared lived experiences in communities. Coloured culture is an act of defiance and resilience.

Coloured is a reflection on and celebration of Coloured identities as lived experiences. It is a call to Coloured communities to reclaim their identity and an invitation to understand the history and place of Coloured people in the making of South Africa's future.

BREAKING THE BOMBERS

How the Hunt for Pagad Created a Crack Police Unit

At the very dawn of the country's brave new democracy, Cape Town was at war. Pagad, which started as a community protest action against crime, had mutated into a sinister vigilante group wreaking death and destruction across the city. Between 1996 and 2001, there were more than 400 bombs – most famously at the popular Planet Hollywood restaurant at the V&A Waterfront – and there were countless targeted hits on drug lords and gang bosses.

The police were at their wit's end. The new ANC government was alarmed. The citizens of Cape Town were living in fear.

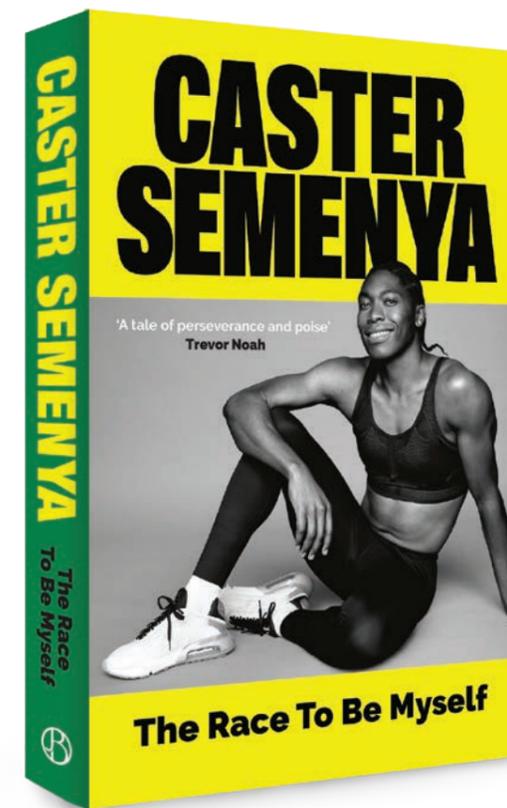

Mark Shaw tells the incredible tale of how the police's response pulled together former foes – struggle cadres and the apartheid security apparatus – to break the Pagad death squads. It's a story that has never been told in full and was not possible until recently, when many were released from prison or had retired.

Now, they are finally willing to talk openly about this revealing chapter in South Africa's recent history.

'Mark Shaw is the foremost analyst of organised crime in SA.' – Jonny Steinberg

MARK SHAW is the author of Hitmen for Hire and Give Us More Guns. He is also director of the Global Initiative Against Transnational Organized Crime.

'A tale of perseverance and poise' – Trevor Noah

THE RACE TO BE MYSELF

Aged eighteen, Caster Semenya shot to fame on the global sporting stage for her blistering speed. But shrouding her monumental win were fierce rumours about her physical body rather than her phenomenal performance.

Called 'a threat to the sport' and 'not woman enough', she found herself at the centre of the debate around the newly drawn line between gender and sport. Throughout the intense speculation, harmful rumours and long legal battle she has remained quiet, letting her running do the talking until she was banned from competing and defending her Olympic title in 2020.

Now, Caster is ready to own her story and tell it in full. In this book, Caster speaks openly about growing up in a loving family and community that never regarded her as different, just Caster; of her early years understanding her agency, sexuality and athletic ability; and of her infectious spirit and tenacity to be the best.

Told with conviction and humour, The Race To Be Myself is the story of a life lived in the spotlight, a manifesto for acceptance and change for all. This is the unforgettable story of one of the most recognisable athletes in the world, and of a woman's journey to run free.

CASTER SEMENYA is a professional runner from South Africa. She is a two-time Olympic Games gold medallist and a three-time World Athletics Championships gold medallist. She lives in Pretoria, South Africa.
