Risking Life For Death by Ryan Blumenthal

9781776192687 | Jonathan Ball Publishers | PB | R280

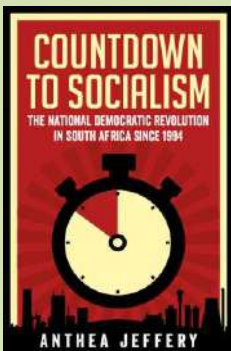

Every contact leaves a trace, a singular strand of hair can be the silent witness at a crime scene. Locard's Exchange Principle underpins all forensic science, positing that the perpetrator of a crime will bring something to the crime scene and leave with something from it. In Risking Life for Death, South African forensic pathologist Ryan Blumenthal showcases this forensic technique using real-life case studies. With over 20 years' experience, Blumenthal explains how to look for clues and traces, and how what he doesn't find at an autopsy is often more important than what he does find. An understanding of Locard's Exchange Principle can help you become a medical detective in your own life and can help you be a happier person, Blumenthal argues.

20 Battles by Evert Kleynhans & David Katz

9781928248224 | Jonathan Ball Publishers | TPB | R320

Over the past century, South Africa's military has established itself in several battles and operations. In 20 Battles, military historians Evert Kleynhans and David Katz investigate South Africa's military evolution over 100 years. They track the evolution of the doctrine and structure of the South African military, rediscovering historical continuity, if any, and the lessons learned in past operations like Delville Wood, Cassinga and Boleas. The book identifies several military firsts, like the first deployment during the 1914 Industrial Strike; large-scale cross border deployments during the Border War; deployment of the new South African National Defence Force after 1994; and culminating with the infamous Battle of Bangui.

Countdown To Socialism by Anthea Jeffery

9781776192915 | Jonathan Ball Publishers | TPB | R350

Countdown to Socialism is a thought-provoking account that explores the potential risks and consequences of socialism in South Africa. In this book, Jeffery argues that socialism, if not well-managed, could lead to devastating consequences such as economic decline, political instability, and social unrest. She examines the history of socialism in South Africa, from the apartheid era to the present day, and its impact on the country's development. Jeffery highlights the shortcomings of the current government, which she believes is leading the country towards socialism. Jeffery's insightful analysis draws on a wealth of data, research, and interviews with experts to offer a compelling case for why socialism is not the way forward for South Africa.

So, when war breaks out and Elise is forced to flee, she entrusts Juliette with her daughter, playmate to Juliette's own little girl. More than a year later, with the war finally ending, Elise returns to reunite with her daughter, only to find her friend's bookstore reduced to rubble and Juliette nowhere to be found.

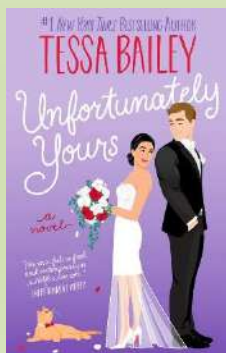

What happened to Mathilde in those last terrible moments? Juliette has seemingly vanished without a trace, taking all the answers with her.

Elise's desperate search leads her to New York and to Juliette, one final, fateful time.

Central Park West by James Comey
9781837932689 | Head of Zeus | TPB | R480

The trial of the century. One chance to crack the case. A million ways to lose. Federal prosecutor Nora Carleton has spent years building a case against a powerful New York mobster. She has a star witness: an insider whose testimony will lock the defendant away for good. But the courtroom can be unpredictable. While the killing of a disgraced former governor appears unconnected to the trial, the fallout from his death makes a guilty verdict hang in the balance. Desperate to stop the mobster from walking free, Nora investigates the city's dark underbelly to understand how everything connects. The more she uncovers, the deeper the corruption runs. There are dangerous people who will do anything to stop her from finding the truth. But Nora knows that the truth is a fragile thing, especially in court.

As colleagues bickering intensifies, Ulf tries to stay above the fray. But when Anna, a friend and co-worker, appears to blame him for a failed case, she may be putting her career above their friendship. Amidst this, Ulf embarks on an inquiry: a man's cabin has disappeared, and Ulf must find out what happened. How does one steal a house? And how does one find a stolen house? Meanwhile, a treatment for deaf dogs is announced, and Ulf's dog, Martin, might be the perfect patient.

House Woman by Adorah Nworah
9780008502720 | HarperCollins | TPB | R355

One day in Lagos, young dancer Ikemefuna is put on a plane to Houston to meet her new husband, Nna. Promises are made to her – about her education, about the man she will marry, about her freedom. None of them are kept. A few months later, self-professed feminist Nna finds a beautiful woman cooking in his parents' kitchen. They tell him Ikemefuna is his wife, there to give them the grandson they've been waiting for. She appears obedient, malleable. But she is no ordinary wife. In the Texas heat, patience runs on short supply and the atmosphere in the house becomes increasingly strained, increasingly violent. Desperation makes people do strange things.

Fiction

Summer Skies by Jenny Colgan
9781408726143 | Little Brown | TPB | R365

Born into a family of pilots, Morag is used to flying high. But after a tragic accident, could the future she'd imagined be out of reach? After hearing that her grandfather has fallen ill, Morag leaves her fast-paced London life to return home to the Scottish Highlands. Given her grandfather's condition, Morag must fly the local route in his old plane, ferrying locals across the islands of the archipelago. But when the weather fluctuates, Morag must crash-land on an island, alone and far from civilisation. Then she discovers Gregor, the reclusive ornithologist maintaining the island. Though the pair clash, Morag is forced to seek shelter at his cabin, stuck together until help arrives. Awaiting rescue, might Morag discover that a remote Scottish island is exactly the place she needs to be?

Faking It by Beth Reekles
9780751582871 | Little Brown | PBO | R235

Lifelong singleton, Sophie, is looking for love. With her friends settling down and her family piling on the pressure, it seems that her anonymous column about relationships is more successful than her actual dating life. But now, with her sister's wedding approaching, she's determined not to turn up alone and if she can't find her soulmate in time, she'll just have to fake one. Harry, a charming, attractive and seeking a post-break-up distraction, answers Sophie's plea on a dating app, promising an all-expenses-paid weekend to anyone crazy enough to go along with her charade. And with the wedding a hit and a calendar full of "couple" events on the horizon, the pair realise the only way they'll survive the next few months is with each other and a little white lie.

My Armenian Friend by Andreï Makine
9781914495458 | Welbeck | HB | R420

Set in Siberia in the 1970s during the decline of the Soviet Empire, the adult narrator looks back on a childhood friendship formed with an Armenian boy called Vardan. The narrator becomes Vardan's protector, for the young Armenian's maturity and sensitivity make him a target for schoolyard bullies. The narrator is welcomed by Vardan's family living in exile in a diverse neighbourhood populated by former prisoners, exhausted adventurers and many who have been forcibly uprooted from their homes. Touching anecdotes characterise this text, and powerful memories blending reality and myth are used to recreate a "kingdom of Armenia" that will have a lasting impact upon the author.

Fiction

Three Graces by Amanda Craig

With help from a friend, Cin pushed her way into a brokerage firm. She was shocked to find an army of workers, mostly Black and Brown, with no promotion prospects, doing the work for white male brokers. But she felt the pull of profit and knew she would do whatever she could, to be successful. Wolf Hustle reveals how Cin ascended from cold caller to stockbroker, a first for a Black woman at her firm. From landing millionaire clients to losing, then gaining back fortunes, Cin examines her time trading, understanding how to build a rich life, and beating Wall Street at its own game.

Non- Fiction

This Thread of Gold by Catherine Joy White
9780349702605 | Little Brown | TPB | R365

For centuries, Black women have been removed from the dominant narrative, their stories untold, their art appropriated. Many of them found ways to resist. Some of these acts of resistance happened in secret, through trusted networks. Others were projected on a global stage through art, politics and activism. White's book attempts to correct the historical record and inspire a generation of readers. From Malinda Russell, author of the earliest known cookbook by a Black woman to Négritude, a literary, cultural and intellectual movement aimed at raising Black consciousness across Africa, White features women across time and space, liberating them from stereotypes, allowing them emotional nuance, individual motivation and richness of expression.

Didn't We Almost Have It All by Gerrick Kennedy
9781419752971 | Abrams | PB | R410

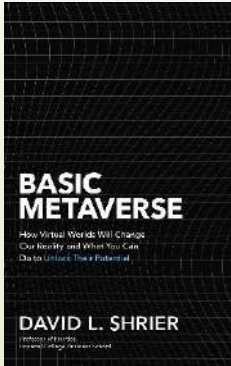

A candid exploration of the genius, shame, and celebrity of Whitney Houston a decade after her passing. In the decade since Whitney Houston's passing, the world has mourned her death as a once-in-a-generation talent and queen of the pop charts. Didn't We Almost Have It All is an exploration of Whitney's life as a woman in the spotlight. This is the story of Whitney's whole life, told with grace and honesty. Gerrick Kennedy deftly peels back the layers of Whitney's story and pulls the narrative apart into the key elements that informed her life, growing up in a famous family; her relationships with Robyn Crawford and Bobby Brown; her connection to her own Blackness and the Black community; her drug addiction; and, finally, shame.

Sing Your Name Out Loud by Jason Derulo
9780008641283 | HarperCollins | TPB | R450

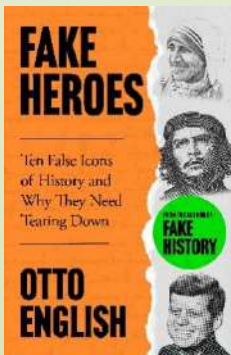

This is the remarkable story of Derulo's come up, told through the valuable principles that guided and propelled him toward artistic excellence. Waking at 4am to catch buses across Miami so he could attend performing arts schools on scholarship, entering himself into local singing competitions at the mall on the weekends, and penning hundreds of songs before he ever saw the inside of a recording studio, Derulo's commitment to his dream and dedication to seeing it come true, is the stuff of legend. But it was during his reinvention in 2020, after becoming one of the most followed creators on TikTok, that he realized his personal rules for self-mastery and success are applicable anywhere, for anyone, under any circumstance. "Now," he writes, "It's your turn."

Shrier explains how the technology works, unpacks its potential uses, and its impact on everyday life and work. He explores some of the legal and moral quandaries that could accompany widespread adoption of this transformational technology, from issues of wealth disparity and access to what happens if your virtual avatar commits a crime in the metaverse. The metaverse future is full of possibility. One thing we can be certain of is that it will be stranger than we can imagine. Join Shrier as he journeys across virtual worlds in search of understanding.

Fake Heroes by Otto English
9781802795899 | Welbeck | TPB | R410

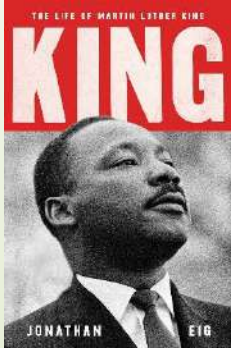

Having exposed some of the greatest lies ever told in Fake History, journalist Otto English turns his attention to some of history's biggest (and most beloved) figures. Whether it's virtuous leaders in just wars, martyrs sacrificing all for a cause, or innovators changing the world for the better, down the centuries supposedly great men and women have risen to become household names, saints and heroes. But just how deserving are they of their reputations? Exploring everything from Captain Scott's reckless hunt for glory and Andy Warhol's flagrant thievery to Coco Chanel's murky Nazi past, Otto English dives into the hidden lives of some of history's most recognisable names. Scrutinising figures from the worlds of art, politics, business, religion and royalty, he brings to light the murkier truths they would rather have kept buried away.

The Fight Is Here by Simon Shuster
9780008599188 | HarperCollins | TPB | R410

King: The Life of Martin Luther King by Jonathan Eig
9781471181016 | Simon & Schuster | TPB | R430

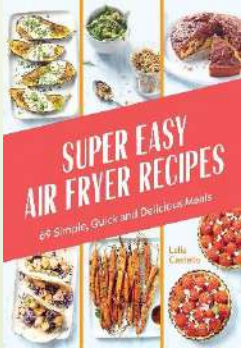

The first major new biography of Martin Luther King Jr in over 40 years, Jonathan Eig's superb King is based on years of research, hundreds of interviews with those who knew him and many thousands of previously unreleased documents, including a huge cache from the FBI. For too long, his radical vision for the future has been erased. The hope of his 'I have a dream' message and the tragedy of his assassination at the age of 39 have overwhelmed the story of a brilliantly bold and complicated man, which obscures his real significance of today's society and for the future. His vision went far beyond achieving equal treatment for black men and women, which was only a part of a much greater and more wide-ranging mission, something that has been forgotten by most.

Forgotten Warriors by Sarah Percy
9781529344325 | John Murray | TPB | R380

Battlefields have always contained a surprising number of women. Tracing the long history of female fighters, Forgotten Warriors puts the record straight, exploring how war became an all-male space, and getting to the bottom of why women were allowed to be astronauts a full thirty years before they were allowed to fight in combat. From the Mino, the all-female army that protected Dahomey from the West for two hundred years to the Night Witches, Soviet flying aces that decimated the Nazis; from the real story of Joan of Arc to the cross-dressing soldiers whose disguises were so effective the men around them never realized who they were fighting with, Sarah Percy shines a fascinating new light on the history of warfare.
