Deep Blue by Veruska De Vita
9781776194568 | Jonathan Ball Publishers | TPB | R330

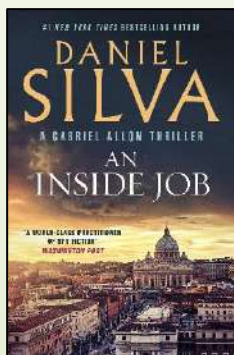

Deep Blue is a love letter to the sea, exploring humans' deep connection with the ocean and the bliss of swimming, diving, dipping and simply being in salt water. Join Veruska De Vita, a learner free diver and open-water swimmer, as she delves into why the ocean calls to us. Along the way she talks to those who find healing and wellness in swimming groups and cold-water immersion, scientists who study complex marine environments, elite athletes who swim super-human distances along our coasts and free divers who plumb the depths with one breath. Water is primordial. It gives life. It represents hope and renewal. This book promises to inspire everyone to jump with joy into the waves and offers reflections on our intimate relationship with the sea, which supports life on earth and requests that we respect it.

The Colonialist by William Kelleher Storey
9781776194964 | Jonathan Ball Publishers | TPB | R425

This first comprehensive biography of Cecil Rhodes in a generation illuminates Rhodes's vision for the expansion of imperialism in southern Africa, connecting politics and industry to internal development, and examines how this fueled a lasting white-dominated colonial society. Rhodes was one of the most influential people in the history of the British Empire. He made a fortune by leading the world's most important diamond mining company, De Beers, as well as gold-mining concern Consolidated Gold Fields. He was a member of the Cape Colony's legislature and served as prime minister from 1890 to 1896, a key period for the development of racial discrimination. A complex figure, admired and detested in his own time, Rhodes dreamt to unite Southern Africa's colonies and republics into one state, dominated by white settlers, with labour provided by Black people who were constrained and pressured by discriminatory laws.

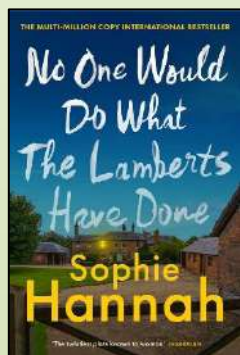

Fiction

An Inside Job by Daniel Silva

97800008728977 | HarperCollins | TPB | R389

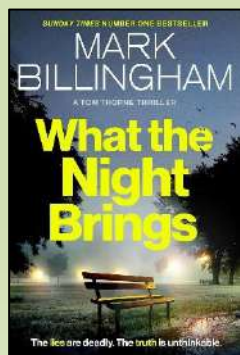

Gabriel Allon has been awarded a commission to restore one of the most important paintings in Venice. But when he discovers the body of a mysterious woman floating in the waters of the Venetian Lagoon, he finds himself in a desperate race to recover a lost masterpiece by Leonardo da Vinci. The painting, a portrait of a beautiful young girl, has been gathering dust in a storeroom at the Vatican Museums for more than a century, misattributed and hidden beneath a worthless picture by an unknown artist. Because no one knows that the Leonardo is there, no one notices when it disappears one night during a suspicious power outage. No one but the ruthless mobsters and moneymen behind the theft and the mysterious woman whom Gabriel found in a watery grave in Venice. A woman without a name. A woman without a face.

No One Would Do What The Lamberts Have Done by Sophie Hannah

9781835011584 | Bedford Square | TPB | R390

You think it will never happen to you: the ring of the bell, the policeman on the doorstep. What he says traps you in a nightmare that starts with the words, 'I'm afraid...'
Sally Lambert is also afraid, and desperate enough to consider the unthinkable. Is it really, definitely, impossible to escape from this horror?
Maybe not. There's always something you can do, right?
Of course, no one would ever do this particular something, except the Lamberts, who might have to. No one has ever gone this far. Until Sally decides that the Lamberts will...

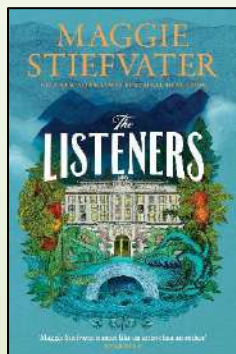

What the Night Brings by Mark Billingham

9781408726396 | Little Brown | TPB | R440

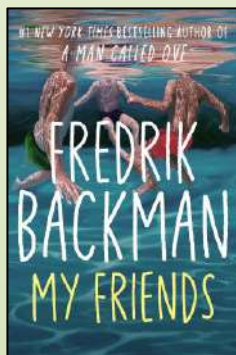

Three dead coppers, Tom, maybe four by lunchtime.
The targeted murder of four officers is only the first in a series of attacks that leaves police scared, angry and, most disturbingly of all, vengeful.
As Tom Thorne and Nicola Tanner dig into the reasons for the violence, a deeper darkness begins to emerge: the possibility that these murders are payback.
The price paid for an unspeakable betrayal.
To uncover the truth, Thorne will be forced to question everything he stands for. He can trust nobody, and the shocking secrets revealed by one terrible night will fracture his entire world.

The Listeners by Maggie Stiefvater
9781035406203 | Headline | TPB | R395

The Avallon Hotel offers unrivalled luxury in the wild Appalachian Mountains, its curative sweetwater washing away the troubles of high society. June 'Hoss' Hudson, a local girl turned general manager, has known its power since she first stepped through the century-old doors and into the fold of the Gilfoyle family, the hotel's aristocratic owners. But in 1942, the real world intrudes. War comes to the Avallon dressed in fine furs and government suits. Under the State Department's watchful eye, the Gilfoyle heir welcomes three hundred enemy diplomats and Nazi sympathisers. And June must play host. As dark alliances and unexpected desires crack the Avallon's polished veneer, not every guest is who they seem. Not least Agent Tucker Minnick, listening for secrets through the hotel walls, whose coal tattoo threatens to betray his past and undo June.

My Friends by Fredrik Backman
9781398516403 | Simon & Schuster | TPB | R390

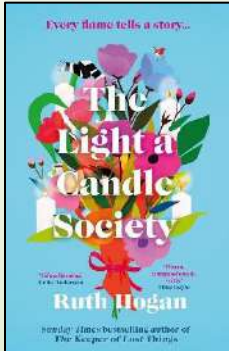

In the corner of one of the most famous paintings in the world three tiny figures sit at the end of a pier. Most people don't even notice them. Most people think it's just a depiction of the sea. But Louisa, an aspiring artist herself, knows otherwise. Twenty-five years earlier, in a distant seaside town, a group of teenagers seek refuge from their bruising home lives by spending long summer days together. They tell jokes, they share secrets, and they commit small acts of rebellion. These lost souls find in each other a reason to get up each morning, a reason to dream, a reason to love. Out of that summer emerges a transcendent work of art, a painting that will unexpectedly be placed into 18-year-old Louisa's care. Determined to learn how it came to be and to decide what to do with it, Louisa embarks on a cross-country journey. But the closer she gets to the painting's birthplace, the more nervous she becomes.

The Lost Language of Oysters by Alexander McCall Smith
9780349147673 | Little Brown | TPB | R440

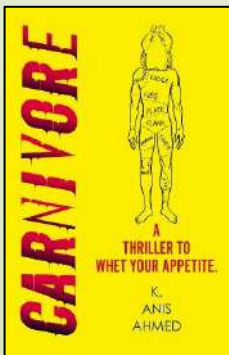

Professor Moritz-Maria von Igelfeld, esteemed author of Portuguese Irregular Verbs, works at a quiet German institute, where rivalry with colleague Professor Unterholzer simmers beneath the surface. The arrival of two flamboyant American scholars, Professors Pom Pom Boisseau and Alice Martinique, experts in Provençal and avid motorcyclists, disrupts the calm. While Unterholzer is appalled, von Igelfeld is smitten with Pom Pom and even joins her on a ride, leading to predictable embarrassment. His misfortunes multiply when he's drawn into a bizarre student event involving sword dueling. Though humiliation follows, von Igelfeld looks ahead to a trip to Louisian, a culinary haven and home to unusual linguistic research involving oysters. Academic pride, cultural clashes, and romantic mishaps collide in this light-hearted tale of scholarly absurdity.

Problematic Summer Romance by Ali Hazelwood
9781408729885 | Little Brown | BPB | R295

Maya Killgore is twenty-three and still in the process of figuring out her life. Conor Harkness is thirty-eight, and Maya cannot stop thinking about him. It's such a cliché, it almost makes her heart implode: older man and younger woman; successful biotech guy and struggling grad student; brother's best friend and the girl he never even knew existed. As Conor loves to remind her, the power dynamic is too imbalanced. Any relationship between them would be problematic in too many ways to count, and Maya should just get over him. After all, he has made it clear that he wants her gone from his life. But not everything is as it seems and clichés sometimes become plot twists. When Maya's brother decides to get married in Taormina, she and Conor end up stuck together in a romantic Sicilian villa for over a week. There, on the beautiful Ionian coast, between ancient ruins, delicious foods, and natural caves, Maya realizes that Conor might be hiding something from her.

Storybook Ending by Moira Macdonald
9781526683793 | Bloomsbury | TPB | R445

April is lonely. Since her office issued a permanent work from home mandate, she's lost herself a little. So, in a bid to break out of the funk, she leaves an anonymous note inside a book for the hot guy at her neighbourhood bookstore. Laura is a busy single mum. Thanks to the meddling hand of fate, she's the one who finds April's note, thinking it's from the guy who served her at the bookstore. A little flirtation with an attractive man who loves books might be just what she needs. Meanwhile Westley, handsome but not so perceptive, is too distracted by a movie filming at the shop to notice either woman's furtive glances as they leave notes for each other amid the books in the stacks. April and Laura's continued anonymous correspondence will shake all three of these characters, sparking a glimmer of hope that they might just get what they want: a storybook ending of their own.

The Single Neighbour by Senta Rich
9781526689092 | Bloomsbury | TPB | R415

Tristan and Izzy are on the brink of marital breakdown. Sex has become less than perfunctory and distance shadows their interactions. The arrival of their new neighbour may just be their salvation: or, will she be their undoing? Vivacious, enigmatic and enticing, Viv piques both Tristan and Izzy's interest, her appearance in their lives offering them diversion from their faltering marriage and a window into the people they might be were it not for each other. But as Viv becomes an ever-increasing presence in their lives, the couple are forced to confront the long-ignored truths about themselves, each other and their pasts that have been a silent, spectral presence between them for years. At this fork in their marriage, they will face the most difficult decision: to cleave together for the sake of their union, or to walk away.

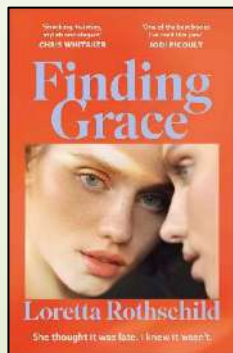

Fulfillment by Lee Cole
9780571392162 | Faber & Faber | TPB | R430

Emmett and Joel are half-brothers, but they couldn't be more different: Emmett is single and working in a vast Cargo Distribution Centre in Kentucky, while Joel is a married academic and published writer.

For the first time in years, the two of them are back together in the family home, just as Joel's wife, Alice, starts to yearn for a different kind of lifestyle.

Both wide-screen and intimate, Fulfillment is a beautifully written and absorbing portrayal of three people's changing hopes and dreams, further marking Lee Cole out as one of today's must-read, young authors.

Finding Grace by Loretta Rothschild
9781399825795 | John Murray | TPB | R445

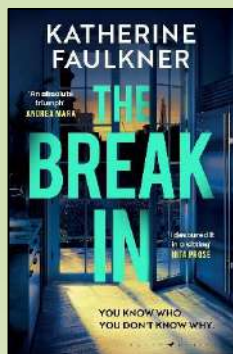

Honor's life is nearly perfect: she adores her bright and beautiful daughter, Chloe, and her charming, handsome husband, Tom, even if he works one hundred hours a week. Yet Honor's longing for another baby threatens to eclipse all that is wonderful, until a shocking event changes everything. Years later, Tom makes a decision that ripples through their family's life in ways he could never have predicted. As the consequences of his choice continue to unfold, two women's paths become irrevocably intertwined.

Blending a page-turning moral dilemma with a sweeping love story, Finding Grace explores the price of secrets and asks whether it's ever too late to tell the truth.

To the Moon by Jang Ryujin
9781526690982 | Bloomsbury | TPB | R520

In Seoul, three women in their thirties meet while working mundane jobs at a snack manufacturer. They become fast friends, taking their conversations out of the group chat as they bond over their 'average' employee report cards, the incompetence of their male team leader, and a mutual longing for financial freedom amid mediocre raises. Eun-sang, the eldest of the group, is always looking for ways to earn extra money. Jisong, the youngest, dreams of a perfect romance with her Taiwanese boyfriend and spends her low salary on trips to Taipei. Meanwhile, Dahae is struggling to support her injured mother, and searches endlessly for a better apartment she can actually afford. Eun-sang announces a plan to make enough money to quit her job, by investing her life's savings in cryptocurrency. As the market begins to fluctuate and spiral out of their control, the fate of their friendships and their futures soon hangs in the balance.

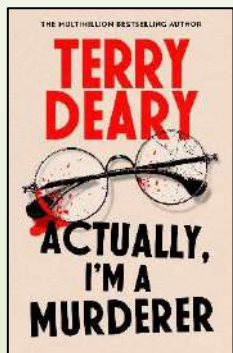

The Break-In by Katherine Faulkner
9781526675446 | Bloomsbury | TPB | R520

The play date started well. The children happy in one room while their mothers relaxed and drank wine in another.

But then the stranger appeared at the window. And then he was inside the house. And then he grabbed the knife...

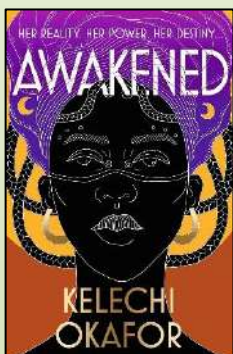

Alice only means to stop him. She doesn't mean to hit him so hard. She didn't mean to kill him. The police conclude that she acted in self-defence, but wracked with guilt, Alice sets out to apologise to Linda, the mother of the young man she killed, only to find she is unable to come clean about who she really is. But as Alice learns more about Ezra and why he was at her house, she starts to wonder whether she really has the full picture about what happened that day...

Do big government debts threaten our collective well-being? Are there limits to debt growth? Can a big, important reserve currency country like the United States really go broke – and what would that look like? For decades, politicians, policymakers and investors have debated these questions, but the answers have eluded them. In this groundbreaking book, Ray Dalio, one of the greatest investors of our time who anticipated the 2008 global financial crisis and the 2010–12 European debt crisis, shares for the first time his detailed explanation of what he calls the 'Big Debt Cycle'. Understanding this cycle is critical for helping policymakers, investors and the general public grasp where we are and where we are headed with the debt issue. Dalio's model points toward surprisingly straightforward solutions for dealing with the debt problems that the US, Europe, Japan and China face today.

Heavily Meditated by Dave Asprey
9780008743321 | HarperCollins | TPB | R500

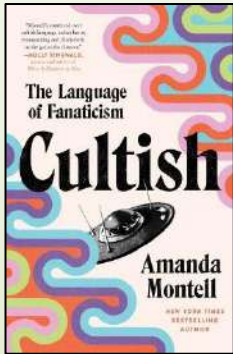

Do you ever feel like your brain is running on dial-up in a fiber-optic world? In his 20s, Dave Asprey did too. He battled debilitating brain fog and chronic fatigue syndrome, frustrated by his broken brain. Determined to upgrade his “MeatOS,” fix his brain, and biohack his biology to live past the age of 180, Dave embarked on a lifelong quest to push the boundaries of human potential, including running a neuroscience center for entrepreneurs for over a decade. Now, he's sharing his mind-blowing secrets in Heavily Meditated, blending cutting-edge science, a sprinkle of woo, and ancient wisdom from around the globe. This book is your ticket to unlocking altered states of consciousness and tapping into unlimited energy, happiness, and inner peace.

Super Stimulated by Nicklas Brendborg
9781399735155 | Hodder & Stoughton | TPB | R470

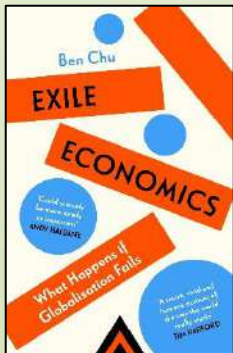

Modern society is plagued by health epidemics: obesity, record levels of loneliness, increasing mental health problems and various forms of addiction. From the outside, all these issues might seem unrelated. But a single phenomenon actually ties them all together: superstimuli. Superstimuli are exaggerated, unnatural versions of things we have evolved to want and need such as food, sex and social recognition. This hard-wired evolutionary response is why we binge on fake ultra-processed food, lust after airbrushed people online, and struggle to stop scrolling on social media, even when it makes us feel bad. Our lack of control isn't because we are weak. It's because powerful companies spend billions creating superstimuli that manipulate our biology for profit, leaving us unhealthy and unhappy as a consequence.

Cultish: The Language of Fanaticism by Amanda Montell
9780062993168 | HarperCollins | TPB | R430

What makes “cults” so intriguing and frightening? What makes them powerful? The reason why so many of us binge Manson documentaries by the dozen and fall down rabbit holes researching suburban moms gone QAnon is because we’re looking for a satisfying explanation for what causes people to join and more importantly, stay in extreme groups. We secretly want to know: could it happen to me? Amanda Montell’s argument is that, on some level, it already has . . . Our culture tends to provide pretty flimsy answers to questions of cult influence, mostly having to do with vague talk of “brainwashing.” But the true answer has nothing to do with freaky mind-control wizardry or Kool-Aid. In Cultish, Montell argues that the key to manufacturing intense ideology, community, and us/them attitudes all comes down to language. In both positive ways and shadowy ones, cultish language is something we hear and are influenced by every single day.

Exile Economics by Ben Chu
9781399817172 | John Murray | TPB | R470

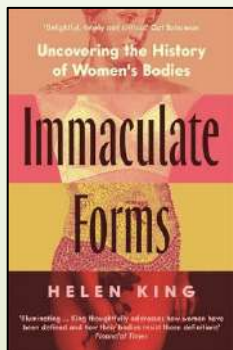

Nations are turning away from each other. Faith in globalisation has been fatally undermined by the pandemic, the energy crisis, surging trade frictions and swelling great power rivalry. A new vision is vying to replace what we've known for many decades. This vision, Exile Economics, entails a rejection of interdependence, a downgrading of multilateral collaboration and a striving for greater national self-sufficiency. The supporters of this new order argue it will establish genuine security, prosperity and peace. But is this promise achievable? Or a seductive delusion? Through the stories of globally traded commodities - from silicon to steel and from soybeans to solar panels, economics journalist Ben Chu illustrates the intricate web of interdependence that has come to bind nations together and underlines the dangers of this new push to isolationism.

Elemental Goddess Oracle: 45 Cards and Guidebook by Bronwyn Millar
9781591435457 | Simon & Schuster | TPB | R480

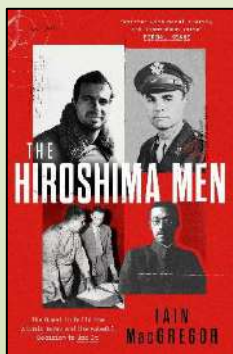

Artfully blending interdimensional Goddess wisdom, the five elements of Chinese medicine, trauma healing techniques, and hands-on acupoint practices, this evocative deck and guidebook introduces 45 Goddesses, each from dimensions where the sacred feminine is active. Speaking through the author, the elemental Goddesses share their healing wisdom on releasing sexual trauma, shame, and taboos and show us how to embrace and love our bodies, our sensuality, and our feminine power and magic. The cards feature a hand-drawn symbolic portrayal of an elemental Goddess, each named for her theme or the acupoint she is connected with. In the accompanying guidebook, the author explores each Goddess’s elemental aspects, her healing guidance, her acupoints, and the emotions she is connected with, and the author provides an affirmation and a meditation to help you integrate her lessons.

Immaculate Forms by Helen King
9781788163880 | Profile | BPB | R385

Throughout history, religious scholars, medical men and occasionally women themselves, have moulded thought on what 'makes' a woman. She has been called the weaker sex, the fairer sex, the purer sex, among many other monikers. Often, she has been defined simply as 'Not A Man'. Today, we are more aware than ever of the complex relationship between our bodies and our identities. But contrary to what some may believe, what makes a woman is a question that has always been open-ended. Immaculate Forms examines all the ways in which medicine and religion have played a gatekeeping role over women's organs. It explores how the womb was seen as both the most miraculous organ in the body and as a sewer; uncovers breasts' legacies as maternal or sexual organs or both; probes the mystery of the disappearing hymen, and asks, did the clitoris need to be discovered at all?

The Hiroshima Men by Iain MacGregor
9781408719510 | Little Brown | TPB | R470

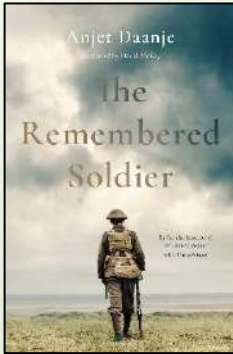

The Hiroshima Men's unique narrative recounts the decade-long journey towards this first atomic attack. It charts the race for nuclear technology before, and during the Second World War, as the allies fought the axis powers in Europe, North Africa, China, and across the vastness of the Pacific, and is seen through the experiences of several key characters: General Leslie Groves, leader of the Manhattan Project alongside Robert Oppenheimer; pioneering Army Air Force bomber pilot Colonel Paul Tibbets II; the mayor of Hiroshima, Senkichi Awaya, who would die alongside over eighty-thousand of his fellow citizens; and Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist John Hersey, who travelled to post-war Japan to expose the devastation the bomb had inflicted upon the city, and in a historic New Yorker article, described in unflinching detail the dangers posed by its deadly after-effect, radiation poisoning.

Further by Michael Hutchinson
9781805460466 | Atlantic Books | TPB | R435

Further sees former professional cyclist Michael Hutchinson immerse himself in the world of ultra-distance bike racing. Speaking to some of the best athletes in the world, as well as sports scientists, psychologists and nutritionists, he discovers what some of the toughest events in sport demand, both physically and mentally. He experiences hallucinations, emotional meltdowns and a depth of physical exhaustion he never thought possible. But he also bears witness to the profound pleasures of the long ride, the joy of crossing a continent under your own power, and the wonders of discovering what you're truly capable of. And as he takes on one of the hardest events in the cycling calendar, he might just find out for himself the miseries and the glories of going all the way to the edge, and maybe just a little bit further...

The Remembered Soldier by Anjet Daanje
9781915590053 | Faber & Faber | HB | R575

An extraordinary love story and a captivating novel about the power of memory and imagination: Flanders 1922. After serving as a soldier in the Great War, Noon Merckem has lost his memory and lives in a psychiatric asylum. Countless women, responding to a newspaper ad, visit him there in the hope of finding their spouse who vanished in battle. One day a woman, Julianne, appears and recognizes Noon as her husband, the photographer Amand Coppens, and takes him home against medical advice. But their miraculous reunion doesn't turn out the way that Julianne wants her envious friends to believe. Only gradually do the two grow close, and Amand's biography is pieced together on the basis of Julianne's stories about him. But how can he be certain that she's telling the truth?

Murderland by Caroline Fraser
9780349127538 | Little Brown | TPB | R470

As Murderland indelibly maps the lives and careers of Bundy and his infamous peers in mayhem - the Green River Killer, the I-5 Killer, the Night Stalker, the Hillside Strangler, even Charles Manson - Fraser's Northwestern death trip begins to uncover a deeper mystery and an overlapping pattern of environmental destruction. At ground zero in Ted Bundy's Tacoma, stood one of the most poisonous lead, copper, and arsenic smelters in the world, but it was only one among many that dotted the area. As Fraser's investigation inexorably proceeds, evidence mounts that the plumes of western smelters not only sickened and blighted millions of lives, but also warped young minds, spawning a generation of serial killers. A propulsive non-fiction thriller, Murderland transcends true-crime voyeurism and noir mythology, taking readers on a profound quest into the dark heart of the real American berserk.

Sunny Days, Taco Nights: A Cookbook by Enrique Olvera
9781838669881 | Phaidon | HB | R1010

Enrique Olvera is known for the sophisticated Mexican cuisine he serves at his globally renowned restaurants, including the iconic Pujol, in Mexico City. However, his true passion is the everyday taco, which he regards as the most 'democratic' of foods. In Sunny Days, Taco Nights, Olvera presents an in-depth exploration of the taco's history and many different styles, ingredients, and accompaniments, and much more. Equal parts culinary history and cookbook, the book features 100 recipes designed for home cooks, arranged into two main chapters: Classics, which features street tacos; and Originals, which explores Olvera's contemporary reinventions of well-known originals. Visually stunning, with vivid food photography and a palette inspired by native corn in Mexico, Sunny Days, Taco Nights is the definitive book on one of the world's most beloved foods.

How to Read African Textiles by Christine Giuntini & Jenny Peruski
9781588397911 | Yale | PB | R670

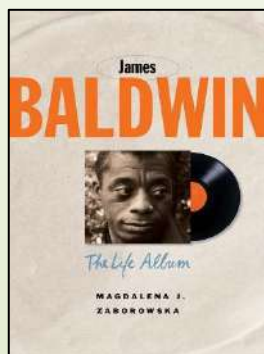

The latest volume in The Met's How to Read series, focusing on the rich and varied textiles of Africa through forty exemplars from the nineteenth century to the present day. Across the African continent, handwoven cloth and clothing have historically been labor-intensive creations deeply embedded in local and regional value systems. These fabrics could be endlessly adapted to communal and individual needs, variously serving to clothe the body, divide architectural space, protect the physical and spiritual wellbeing of the wearer, and convey the wealth and authority of the owner. In this volume, readers are guided through forty masterworks of African fiber arts, from a dynamic nineteenth-century interior hanging from Sierra Leone to a dreamlike textile canvas by contemporary Malagasy artist Joël Andrianomearisoa. Organized geographically, the book explores the complex histories of production, consumption, and exchange attached to these extraordinary works.

William Kentridge: Self-Portrait as a Coffee Pot by William Kentridge
9783907493120 | Thames & Hudson | HB | R2840

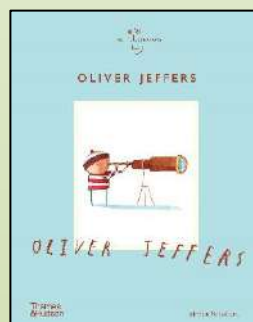

William Kentridge reimagines his film series 'Self-Portrait as a Coffee Pot' that premiered during the 2024 Venice Biennale in this comprehensive artist's book. The artist enters into a rich dialogue with himself in the studio, hashing out questions of art, work, memory, history, and time in magnitudes ranging from the intimate to the universal. Created in close collaboration with the artist, this publication translates his multidisciplinary approach to his films, combining film with performance, collage, drawing, and music into book form, richly illustrated, with exquisite special features such as tipped-in drawings and transparent interleaves bringing the vivid materiality of the artist's studio into the hands of the reader.

James Baldwin by Magdalena J. Zaborowska
9780300262209 | Yale | HB | R630

An intimate portrait of James Baldwin, offering a new understanding of his life and works as seen through his close relationships and private life. James Baldwin (1924–1987) was a pivotal figure of the twentieth century, an influential author, intellectual, and activist who led a celebrated public life and whose words and image and persona remain current in our culture. Baldwin's many incarnations, "son of Harlem," "Black icon," "great twentieth-century writer," "race man," "prophet," "witness", have reemerged in the digital age as Baldwin's work becomes a touchstone for a new generation. It is the private, vulnerable, and messier Baldwin, the man behind the prophet and the online meme, who is the focus of this book. Magdalena J. Zaborowska draws on Baldwin's archives and material legacy from his unpublished papers to his books to his house in France, to offer a fresh look at the writer's understated and obscured private life.

Oliver Jeffers by Martin Salisbury
9780500028155 | Thames & Hudson | HB | R635

A phenomenon of 21st-century bookmaking, Oliver Jeffers has carved an extraordinary career that shows no sign of slowing. Still only in his forties, he has published an array of hugely popular books, both as illustrator and author-illustrator. This overview of his life and work so far, charts his passion for the environment and his quest to understand humanity's major challenges, and the impact this has had on his creative and intellectual output. The list of Jeffers's accomplishments is long and glittering: he has held numerous one-man shows, in both the UK and the USA, and was appointed an MBE in 2022 for services to the arts. Most importantly, however, he has tirelessly pushed the boundaries of what a picture book can be. His regular exploration of existential issues, whether through illustration or other media, has exerted a major influence on the practice of authorial picture book-making.
